BIOGRAPHY

Lindsey Brackett is the President and Chief Empowerment Officer of Legacy FM, LLC, a Certified Healthcare Constructor, Certified Healthcare Facility Manager, Senior-designated ASHE member (SASHE), industry keynote speaker, and influencer in the Healthcare Facilities Management community. She has more than a decade of experience providing solutions, including staff assessments and training, to healthcare facilities management teams. Lindsey has led the development and management of over 150 educational resources and currently serves as Faculty for ASHE's Education Programs, chairs the ASHE Sustainability Task Force, and has co-authored an ASHE monograph and numerous industry-specific publications. Lindsey currently serves her local ASHE-affiliated chapter, Arkansas Association for Healthcare Engineering (AAHE), as the Advocacy Liaison and Facilities Education Committee Chair.

PERSONAL LETTER

Dear ASHE Members:

One of the best attributes of the healthcare industry is our sense of community. ASHE has a long-standing history of bringing together owners, consultants, and vendors through education, advocacy, networking, and even a little friendly competition from time to time. As you are all acutely aware, our industry is stacked with challenges including competing capital needs, aging infrastructure, stringent regulations, and labor deficits. Despite these challenges, the healthcare community has a spirit like no other. We are resilient, inspired, and connected through our common calling to heal.

ASHE has greatly influenced my professional growth over the years. Most recently, I have enjoyed opportunities serving as Faculty for ASHE's Education Programs, earned certification through the CHC and CHFM programs, and chaired the ASHE Sustainability Task Force which has led to numerous publications including a monograph. I also enjoy serving as a Board member of my local chapter in Arkansas, AAHE, and have presented at more than 10 other ASHE-affiliated chapters. It's at those conferences and our national events where I've been able to meet and learn from so many of you. We have shared stories about the challenges you faced and the successes you celebrated after overcoming them. Each of your stories has inspired me to commit to our community by advocating for your needs, facilitating new connections, and sharing valuable knowledge that encourages data-driven decision-making.

Nearly every aspect of my life is dedicated to empowerment through education, and that purpose has continued here with my candidacy. Our membership is hungry to learn and share what's working, what's not, and what's on the horizon. More than ever before, we must lean into our connectivity and mission so that we can empower each other and future generations to compassionately steward our patients, communities, and planet.

It would be my joy and privilege to serve as your Associate Member Representative on the ASHE Advisory Board. If you take nothing else away from my candidacy and this letter to you, know this: I am fully committed to our industry, our community, every one of you, and those you represent. I am honored by your consideration to elect me to this position, and I am grateful for the remarkable, selfless work that you each of you do.

With sincere gratitude,

Lindsey Brackett, CHC, CHFM, SASHE
